Finishing your basement? How about a Home Theater?

So you've decided to finish your basement... What better than a Home Theater System in the comfort of your own home?

A Home Theater is a wonderful way to relax and spend time with your family with out the hassle of a trip out. It's a safe environment for your kids to get together with their friends, right in the comfort of your home.

Not only will you save money on expensive movie theater tickets, but also on the concession stand snacks once you arrive; all while avoiding the costly consumption of gasoline to commute.

New viewing technology is readily available and the cost of high definition televisions is dropping constantly. Therefore it is more economical to be in the comfort of your own home while watching your favorite new release movie. Consider the high quality experience you will feel from a professionally installed Home Theater System.

We help you realize your theater dreams from simple design, to the installation of the finest equipment.

Options including in-ceiling or in-wall speaker packages, lighting control, theater seating, theater theme art and even automated draperies and/or a traditional popcorn maker. Of course, we provide all of the audio and video equipment to complete your theater to meet your individual lifestyle needs.

A Home Theater can be a major asset to you, both in your own personal enjoyment and later in the increased resale value of your home.

Check Batteries in all Smoke Detectors!

Alarm.com's "always-on" sensor monitoring lets you keep track of activity on door, window, cabinet, motion and other sensors at your property. But sometimes it's nice to see what's going on too.

Alarm.com's integrated video monitoring lets you view live video and recorded video clips of activity at your home or business. You can even watch live video and play recorded clips on your PDA or cell phone.

Call WEBCO for a live demo and pricing!

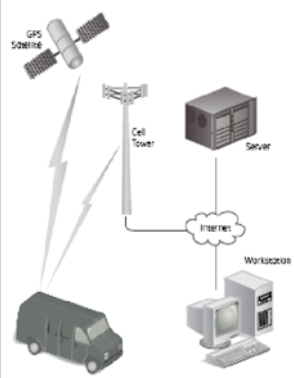

Alarm.com Video from WEBCO offers the following features:

Are you ready for DIGITAL TV?

The DIGITAL AGE-

It seems like everywhere you go these days we rely on "digital" in one form or another. The latest technology has introduced "digital" to clocks, cameras, cellular phones, stereos, as well as many other products. Now as of February 17, 2009 television will make the transition. By law, full-power television stations nation wide must stop using the old method of transmitting TV signals know as analog. Digital television is an innovative type of broadcasting that will deliver crystal-clear picture and sound, as well as more programming choices. Going all-digital will also free up parts of the airwaves for future innovative services.

While the benefits of DTV are remarkable, any person that does not subscribe to a cable or satellite service will require a digital converter box to operate their television. If you require a converter box, our government has initiated a converter box coupon program. Each household is eligible for up to two coupons saving you $40 per converter box. For more information visit: www.dtv2009.gov/AboutProgram.aspx. Please contact WEBCO for assistance and/or installation.

If you are in the market for or have recently purchased a digital TV, you need to look on your set for an indication of an Advanced Television Systems Committee (ATSC) tuner, or consult the TV manufacturer.

WEBCO is proud of the last 10 years of service, and we look forward to being your entertainment resource for many more.
